Therefore, the content theories and the design work that produced these drawings are the property of Cedar Creek Log Homes, Inc., and are intended solely for the construction of a residence. It is strongly recommended that a structural engineer be consulted that is familiar with the design and construction of CEDC if it is supplied and specified materials. The use of statistical methods will yield an R-squared (R<sup>2</sup>) warning; the best of our knowledge these plans are drawn to comply with owner's & architect's specifications. CEDC is not liable for any construction or material problems that may appear. However, we strive to ensure that all drawings and specifications in the enclosed envelope, the contract of the job must check all dimensions and notes details prior to construction and notify responsible themselves. In case of any discrepancy between material specifications and drawings, material specifications and notes details prevail.
